Father Administers Calvin Coolidge Oath by Light of Flickering Oil Lamp

HARDING TO BE INTERRED AT MARION, OHIO

Solemn Scene Is Enacted at 2:45 In Humble Home

Aged Father, a Notary Public, Performs Solemn Ceremony in Small Room Across Way from Coolidge's Birthplace

PLYMOUTH, Vt., Aug. 3.—By the dim light of a flickering oil lamp, Calvin Coolidge took the oath as president of the United States at 2:47 a. m. today. He left for Washington a few hours later.

Just a few hours after word of the death of Warren G. Harding had reached him from his bed, Coolidge stood in the old parlor of the family farmhouse in this isolated hamlet, deep in the Vermont mountains and was sworn in by his aged father, John Coolidge, who is a notary public.

Other presidents have taken the oath on a high rostrum before the capital at Washington, with the chief justice of the supreme court administering it, with troops drawn up in glittering array, with bands and flags and vast cheering crowds of witnesses.

Few Witnesses Ceremony.

Calvin Coolidge was inaugurated in a small room, just across the road from the house where he was born, in the early hours of the morning, with his old father—unshaven and collarless—handing him the well-thumbed family Bible—in the presence of his wife, Jim Melvins, a chauffeur, a congressman, Porter Dale, L. L. Lane, president of the railway mail association of New England, and Secretary of his Washington office.

These were all that witnessed the solemn, simple ceremony—made all the more solemn by the knowledge that death had just taken his predecessor with shocking suddenness and by the gloomy, sombre surroundings. There was no music save the low, mournful chirping of crickets outside, and the soft, whispering of a few of the neighbors who gathered near the house and murmured to one another, "Cal is sworn in as president in there."

The night was dark—slightly overcast—and the only sign that something unusual was going on was manifested by two or three automobiles drawn up at the roadside before the old home, and the feeble gleam of light beneath the window shade of the parlor at an hour when lights are seldom seen in Plymouth.

A Simple Setting

The decision to take the oath at once came after receipt of a telegram from Attorney General Daugherty in San Francisco, urging such a course. There were no preliminaries. The witnesses gathered in the parlor which during the years has been the scene of many events that bulk big in the history of the Coolidge family, but which had never been thought of as the setting for such an event as the inauguration of the thirtieth president of the United States.

John Coolidge, the father, 78, still spry, had been aroused from sleep and looked it. He came into the room careless and collarless and then at the last minute toward the formalities by putting on his coat. He picked up the old Bible in which the family records were kept of his son.

Facing each other the words of the oath were uttered, the faces gaunt in the yellow lamp light, the rest of the room in shadow. There were no reporters—it was probably the first inauguration in history in intimate detail as the scene had graven itself upon their memory.

The news of the late president's death was given to Mr. Coolidge in a telegram from Secretary Christian at midnight. He had retired in the belief that all was well in San Francisco and was aroused by a loud knocking at the door, to be informed that he was president of the United States.

Stern, Tightlipped

When the newspaper men came in shortly afterward, Mr. Coolidge was quiet, stern, tightlipped. "Hello, boys," he said with a sweep of his hand. He bent down beside the dim light to scan dispatches which were handed him, adjusting his glasses.

1923 PROPERTY DOUBLES 1922

Tax Experts Make Reports to City Officials

Port Arthur's valuations for 1923, totaling $44,900,000, are double the 1922 taxable valuations, recorded at $20,237,670.

These figures, shown in the report of the firm of Stoner, Gallagher and Green, tax experts, represent their findings after making a survey of the city and are based upon a 100 per cent basis, city officials said today.

At a meeting of the city commission, sitting as an equalization board at 3:15 o'clock this afternoon, the report of the tax experts will be submitted, and city officials indicated today that at this meeting, the first of the equalization board since its organization, a definite per centage of the valuations will be adopted as the taxable valuations of Port Arthur for 1923.

Taking 75 per cent of the total $44,900,000, or $33,675,000, as the 1923 city taxation valuations, a tax rate of $1.375 per $100 valuation would raise the $493,021 which the city must have for maintaining the general and interest and sinking funds, the report of the tax experts says. This tax rate is .345 less than the 1922 rate, recorded at $1.70 per $100 valuation. G. K. Lomax, city tax collector and assessor, said, "I cannot say at this time whether the board of equalization will adopt 75 per cent of the total amount of taxable valuations reported by the tax men, or just what per cent we will decide upon."

Mayor J. P. Logan, selected as chairman of the 1923 equalization board, said about noon today, "Of course the higher the rendition, the lower the tax rate, and the lower the rendition, the higher the tax rate," the mayor pointed out. "Which of the two will be lowered or raised is a matter to be determined by the full equalization board this afternoon," he said.

Of the total 100 per cent valuation, $44,900,000, the tax experts show the land and improvement values represent $37,600,000, and the personal property $7,300,000. Working out their tax rate based upon a valuation equaling 75 per cent of the $44,900,000, they show $3,375 per $100 valuation would raise $249,000 for the general fund, and $197,031 for the interest and sinking fund.

Capt. Hand Granted Three Months' Leave, Will Not Return Here

Captain E. R. Hand, formerly commanding the U. S. S. Bacbe, has been granted a three months' leave of absence, after which he will be assigned to other duties with the U. S. coast and ocean survey service, and will not return to Port Arthur, he said today. Captain Hand's place as commanding officer of the Bacbe has been taken by Captain Frank Borden, until recently commander of the U. S. S. Hydrographer as commanding officer.

The Hydrographer and Bacbe are both engaged in charting the Texas Gulf coast, using Port Arthur as their base point.

GIVES LOGAN MELON

Mayor Pink Logan Friday morning received a 50-pound melon from A. B. Sweeney of Sabine. The mayor plans regarding disposal of same have been somewhat veiled in secrecy to date, according to reports at the city hall.

DEATH IS SHOCK TO WASHINGTON

Capital Is Plunged Into Grief At Tragedy

WASHINGTON, August 3.—Grief over the death of President Harding was expressed by prominent persons of different political faiths in Washington today as follows:

Secretary of State Hughes: "No word can express the grief into which we are plunged by this calamity. The nation has suffered an irreparable loss. A quiet, brave, strong leader has fallen, overborne by the burden he was carrying."

Loss to the World.

Postmaster General New: "I am simply overwhelmed. There are times when man cannot express his grief. This is one of them. The passing of President Harding is a loss to the world, the magnitude of which cannot be overestimated."

Former Vice President Marshall: "This is a sad thing indeed. I cannot adequately express my personal regret."

Governor D. R. Crissinger of the federal reserve board, lifelong friend of the dead president: "The president's death is a calamity to the country. I loved Warren Harding like a brother. I am simply crushed. I cannot think of anything adequate to express my grief."

Covered Trysting Period. John T. Adams, chairman of the republican national committee: "President Harding's two years' administration covered a most trying period in national and world history and the conduct of his high office was such that he will be enrolled as one of the greatest as well as the most beloved of our presidents."

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor: "I am profoundly shocked and depressed. It is a sad word for the country."

COOLIDGE TO DELAY

GOING TO WHITE HOUSE. WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—President Calvin Coolidge and his family will not move into the White House for about two weeks after their arrival here.

NEW IBERIA MEN

LEAVE AFTER VISIT. Leonard Brown, Oswald Metzger and Edwin Ganssman leave today by automobile for their homes in New Iberia, La., after a few days' visit with P. D. Dugas and L. H. Bertrand, employees of the Gulf Refining company.

Wilson Dispatches a Message of Sympathy

WASHINGTON, August 3.—Woodrow Wilson today dispatched a message of sympathy to the widow of President Harding.

An army of reporters besieged the Wilson home in an effort to secure a public statement on the death of President Harding but Mr. Wilson chose to send his word of condolence direct to Mrs. Harding. His message was not made public here.

Word of the passing of President Harding was given to Mr. Wilson early today. An effort made by Mrs. Wilson to keep the news from him until he arose this morning was unsuccessful.

CALL MINISTER FROM FT. WORTH

R. R. Yelderman Succeeds Rev. Oeschger

A call to the pastorate of the First Christian church here may be extended by the congregation Sunday morning to Rev. R. R. Yelderman, of Fort Worth, Texas, pastor of the Chestnut Avenue Christian church, of that city, officials in the Port Arthur church said today.

The church board of the First Christian church voted to recommend the assumption of a call to Rev. Yelderman, according to church officials, and in the event the congregation adopts this recommendation and the Fort Worth minister accepts, he will probably take up his work here about October 1, it is said.

Rev. Dr. William Oeschger recently resigned as pastor of the First Christian church, taking this step because of his wife's health, and leaves September 1 for Denver, Colo., to assume duties as pastor of the Highland Christian church in that city, he said.

ALLEGED SPEEDER FINED

Joe Stokes in corporation court this morning entered a plea of guilty when arraigned for speeding and paid a fine of $5 and costs.

Crepe Shrouded Train To Bear President's Body East

PALACE HOTEL, SAN FRANCISCO, August 3.—All that is left of the late President Warren G. Harding lay at rest today in the hotel room where at 7:29 last night the living spark was snuffed out by a stroke of apoplexy.

Smoothly and silently preparations were completed for the journey to the national capital where fitting honor will be shown by the nation.

Mrs. Harding, showing amazing fortitude under the crushing shock of her bereavement, was in personal charge of the final arrangements before the journey. She saw to it that the comfort of all of the eighty members of the party will be afforded aboard the special funeral train which leaves San Francisco for Washington at 7 p. m.

She showed signs of her grief but no signs of weakness as she went about her tasks. She maintained her poise as she read over and gave her sanction to the railroad schedule mapped out for the train. Under this schedule, the late president's remains will arrive in Washington late in the afternoon of Tuesday, August 7. No detailed plan has yet been worked out for the lying in state of the body in Washington nor for the funeral later, expected to be at Marion, Ohio, the former home of the Hardings.

The train will go over the Central of Overland route via Sacramento, Reno, Cheyenne, Ogden, Omaha, Chicago and thence by the Baltimore and Ohio to Washington.

It will slow down at stations where people gather to pay a last silent tribute. There will be no stops except those incident to train operation.

At 11 a. m. today no definite arrangements had been made regarding the brief funeral service, which, it was announced, would precede removal of the remains from the hotel to the train.

PALACE HOTEL, SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 3.

—The body of the president lay today robed in white in the chamber where he died.

This afternoon he will be cloaked in black for the long pilgrimage across the continent to Washington.

In leaving the hotel for the funeral train the honorary pall bearers will be Attorney General Daugherty, Secretaries Work, Wallace and Hoover, General Pershing, Speaker Gillett, the governor of California, the mayor of San Francisco, Admiral Simpson, commander of the naval forces in the San Francisco district, and General Morton, commander of military forces in the San Francisco district.

San Francisco in Mourning

The Rev. J. S. West, pastor of the First Baptist church, 500 Oak street, San Francisco, will deliver the prayer at 5 o'clock immediately before the remains are moved from the hotel.

San Francisco overnight had taken a garb of mourning.

When daylight came the gay flags and bunting which had lined Market street since the president's arrival were gone. The hotel where the body lay—last night resplendent in red, white and blue—was draped with black.

The rays of the sun were shielded from the mourning city by a gray blanket of fog which hung somberly over all.

An army and naval guard of honor of 16 enlisted men and two officers representing the army and similar representatives of the navy will accompany the body. The only stops will be those necessary to Chicago.

Soldier and Sailor Guard

The president's coffin will be in the last car of the crepe-shrouded train which will leave here at 7 o'clock tonight. Two soldiers and sailors, representing the army and navy which he commanded, will stand at attention all the time. At night the car will be lighted.

The president's four-starred flag, which has flown constantly from a staff over the presidential suite, was hauled down and in its place, the stars and stripes were run to half mast. All over the city the flags were half-masted in honor of the president.

Dr. Sawyer denied that Mrs. Harding had broken down in the slightest degree.

"I give this statement in order that people will not be unduly alarmed as to her condition."

The funeral procession will form shortly after 5 p. m. today on New Montgomery street, in front of the hotel.

Military Escort

A platoon of mounted police will lead the procession, followed by the military escort.

The cortege will follow immediately behind the honorary escort and will be, in turn, followed by automobiles containing mourners and the president's immediate party.

Distinguished citizens will follow the president's immediate party.

All streets leading to the station along which the procession will pass, will be cleared at 5 p. m.

Police in full uniform will be stationed at frequent intervals along the route of march.

Chief of Police Daniel O'Brien, who is handling all arrangements for insuring safe passage for the procession, announced that while the city authorities realized the people of San Francisco would throng the line of march, none would be permitted to approach the vicinity of the hotel or the station until the president's body had been placed aboard the special train.

The funeral train will be moved over the Baltimore and Ohio railroad from Chicago to Washington, that being the most direct route, it was announced today.

PALACE HOTEL, SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 3.

—The president is dead!

Death, apparently balked by medical science, struck suddenly and with no warning at 7:30 o'clock last night.

The president was definitely on the road to recovery from ptomaine poisoning, acute indigestion and a pneumonic infection which followed them.

But death found a way through the armor—it struck into the brain with apoplexy and without struggle or word, and with only a shudder of his weakened frame and the raising of one hand the nation's head passed beyond.

Simple Funeral Services

Tonight they will take Warren G. Harding's body home—back to the White House where he lived and worked as chief magistrate of the people who today, shocked beyond expression by his death, mourn for him with his wife. After the simplest private funeral services in the presidential suite at the Palace Hotel, where he took to his bed on Sunday morning, the president's remains will be placed aboard a special train.

He will be laid to rest in his old home town, Marion, Ohio—the country village which he raised from rural obscurity into national prominence. Before the final obsequies there which will mark his burial, the president's body probably will lie in state in Washington.

Passed With the Sunset

The president passed with the sunset. The last rays of California's golden sunshine were pouring into his room, where Mrs. Harding, the wife who has been by his side since he was stricken seriously last Saturday, sat reading to him from a magazine. Dr. Sawyer, his old friend and personal physician, sat beside.

The president was lying very still, listening to Mrs. Harding read. He seemed to be resting quite comfortably. To the watchful eyes of his two nurses, Miss Ruth Powderly and Miss Sue Dausser, he seemed just as he had been all day—comfortable and in better personal condition than at any time since he became ill.

There was no apprehension of impending tragedy in the minds of any there. Mrs. Harding and the nurses had every reason to feel easier about the condition of the distinguished patient than at any moment since illness overtook him. They were looking forward without fear or anxiety to the night—another night, they believed, when the restorative power of sleep would add a little more to the slowly growing strength of the president.

It was a scene of peaceful quiet and contentment. Mrs. Harding read on. She came to the end of a paragraph and paused. She turned to look at her husband.

"That sounds good; go ahead," said Mr. Harding.

Mrs. Harding turned again to the magazine and read. She had not finished a sentence when, as though some one had struck him a sudden and crushing blow, the president threw up one hand over his head convulsively. It was as though he sought to ward off the blow which death, in that peaceful unguarded moment, had aimed with unerring directness at a vital spot.

Death Strikes Suddenly

Then like a man struck by a bolt of lightning, the president stiffened and as suddenly dropped back limply. In that brief second, the drawing of a breath, his spirit winged away from the wearied body. There was no time for a word of farewell to his dearly loved wife; no struggle or fight or futile effort to live.

GAME TEACHES GOOD ENGLISH

Start New System to Aid
"Better Speaking"

HALIFAX, Aug. 3.—Nova Scotia, the Canadian province which has long been regarded as the home of good English, has launched a "Better English Week" drive under the personal leadership of Miss Rosemond De Wolfe Archibald of the teaching staff of the Acadia seminary in Wolfville.

Miss Archibald has invented a game called "Correction" which she claims is an original system for teaching good English.

She said she first realized the inadequacy and folly of modern methods of teaching correct speech when she noted during the war how one month of rigorous military training transformed a man from a raw recruit to a finished soldier.

Miss Archibald's theory is that a child unconsistently links his language with his flag and that he can be made to feel that it is just as treasonable to speak poor English as to dishonor the flag.

"I called my pupils to their feet, to stand to attention, to salute the flag," she explained, "and to recite in concert a few correct sentences, drill fashion. Then I sent them forth to correct errors, copying down corrections of all mistakes detected at home, in school and public speaking.

"The effect on their speech was magnificent. In a week of practice we had accomplished what a lifetime of theory had failed to do."

"And now the parents are playing the game of 'Corrections' with the children and incidentally benefitting, too."

$5 SPEEDING FINE SPOILS HONEYMOON

MANASQUAN, N. J., Aug. 3.—"You've spoiled it all," Mrs. James Donaldson, bride of a few days, told Recorder Longstreet as he imposed a fine of $5 and costs upon her husband, arraigned on a charge of speeding 34 miles an hour. The bride told the recorder that their perfect honeymoon would be robbed of all bliss. Recorder Longstreet, however, said he was skeptical of her assertion and imposed the fine. The honeymooners were on their way from Buffalo to Atlantic City.

TEXAS ENGINEER SAVES HIS TRAIN FROM WRECK

SAN ANGELO, Aug. 3.—Sighting, as his westbound mixed train rounded a curve, a burned bridge on the Orient railroad 21 miles west of here, Engineer H. M. Belker Monday averted a serious wreck by quick application of the brakes.

The engineer had not been advised of the fire during the night probably caused by a spark from one of the trains. The loss was estimated at $25,000.

A new bridge had been built this afternoon and traffic was resumed after a 30-hour delay.

J. FRANK NORRIS TO SEEK RULING

Evolution Theory in School To Be Aired in Court

FORT WORTH, Texas, Aug. 3.—Settlement of the question as to whether it is a violation of the bill of rights for the evolutionary hypothesis to be taught in the tax supported schools of the state will be left to the courts, according to a statement made by the Rev. J. Frank Norris, pastor of the First Baptist church, who has been leading the fight in this section of the country against the teaching of evolution in the schools.

He gives the following arguments justifying his position:

First, the theory of evolution is a tenet of religion and an article in the creed of the different sects and denominations. Therefore, whether the Genesis account of creation, which is held and taught, or whether the Darwinian theory, which denies the Genesis account is held and taught, to teach it becomes a violation of the bill of rights.

Second, The bill of rights very clearly states that no religion, society, creed or dogma should be imposed and paid for out of public funds.

Third, The evolutionary hypothesis is false and untrue; therefore, we have a spectacle of public funds appropriated for text books and for salaries of teachers who support a false and untrue theory.

Fourth, There is no adequate remedy at law. The injunction route is the only means of peace to lift up to the tax payers who decline to have their tax money appropriated to teach what is in no way contrary to the Bible teaching of creation.

"Regardless of the issue or decision of the courts, the hearing of the injunction will afford the finest possible opportunity of educating the public by giving them the facts concerning the destructive teaching of the false and untrue hypothesis of evolution," Norris declared. "It will give

OFFERED MONEY FOR PROTECTION

Woman Mayor Has Man Placed in Jail

FAIRPORT, Ohio, Aug. 3.—Albert Schlegel, awaiting trial behind the bars of Lake county jail, learned about women from the Fairport mayor and justice of the peace.

Schlegel is charged with offering to pay protection for a gambling house from Mayor Amy Kaukonen, Justice of the Peace Mabel Walters set his bail at $500, but Schlegel couldn't make the raise.

He came to "Mayor Amy's" office one afternoon, according to the affidavit, and offered her a 50-50 proposition. Six hundred new laborers were coming to Fairport to work in the coke ovens, he is said to have explained, and a well protected gambling house would bring big returns.

"Mayor Amy" agreed and asked Schlegel to bring the money to her office the next afternoon.

The would-be gambling boss next day unfurled a huge roll of bills on the mayor's desk. Two seconds later a deputy sheriff and the chief of police stepped out from behind a closed door and placed Schlegel under arrest.

EXPLOSION INJURES YOUTH AND MOTHER

PARIS, Texas, Aug. 3.—Russell Benham, about 15 years of age, and his mother were injured in a gasoline explosion Monday afternoon at their home near Pattonville. Benham had just filled a smothering iron with gasoline and some of the liquid dripped on the floor.

The drippings ignited and reached a can filled with gasoline, causing it to explode.

The shrapnel was blown from Benham's coat, the flesh burned off both arms and his face cooked. He is in a critical condition. Mrs. Benham was burned about the face, arms and neck by the explosion, but her injuries are not considered serious.

GIRL WEEPS AS SHE GIVES MAN SUBPOENA

CHICAGO, August 3.—Miss Fay Blank volunteered to serve a subpoena on Otto Lehman, wealthy Chicago department store owner, which federal deputy marshals had been unable to serve. Lehman was wanted in a grand jury investigation of a well known Chicago liquor house.

Miss Blank, successfully reached Lehman in his office but, instead of handing him the subpoena, she burst into tears. Lehman sympathized with her and accompanied her to the federal court on her promise to dry her tears.

You Are Entitled to Credit on Dental Work! Why Wait and Suffer Till You Save the Cash?

Why try to wear a plate that covers the roof of your mouth when you can come to us and have a needless plate made that is guaranteed to fit and will prevent gagging? The only place in town they are to be had.

The more we think of the step we took when we announced that we would do dental work on an easy payment plan—the more we talk to folks who come to us to have their dental work done on that plan—the more we wonder that we or someone else didn't realize long before that Dentistry ought to be done on a credit basis in justice to everybody.

There's no reason in the world why you should be forced to pay cash to have your teeth put in perfect condition when you can buy practically everything else on credit—furniture, jewelry, clothing, automobiles; in fact we don't know of anything you can't buy on credit.

You are entitled to credit on dentistry and we are certainly glad in more ways than one that we were the first dentists in the state of Texas, so far as we know, who established credit dentistry.

We are glad because it was right.

We are glad because folks appreciate it and a greater number are coming to us day after day to have their dental work done on our easy payment plan.

We are glad because it has enabled us to reduce our prices and give everyone the best dental work obtainable for considerably less than they would pay elsewhere.

And after all, the one big thing about credit dentistry is that it enables everyone to get their dental work done when they need it. That's the outstanding feature that no one should overlook.

Dental work should never be put off. It ought to be done right now—with the first ache or before an ache—when a cavity or bad tooth develops.

By having your dental work done right now—you will save money—and you will prevent pain.

Why wait?

Now is the time.

Let us come to our offices and we will give your teeth a thorough examination and tell you what it will cost to put them in perfect shape.

We will start right then to do the work if you want us to. You don't have to worry about the bill at all. We'll make any arrangement that satisfies you for payment in small weekly sums after the work is completed.

Use your credit. You are entitled to it. Get your teeth fixed now! Come to Drs. Blake & Sheffield and pay as you are able.

NEW $200,000 HOSPITAL BUILT

West Texas Baptists Finish
Simmons Campus Building

ABILENE, Texas, Aug. 3.—A $200,000 hospital plant will be at the service of Simmons students within the next year, when the West Texas Baptist Sanitarium, within two blocks of the Simmons college campus, is completed and opened to the public. According to an announcement of the building committee, the structure will be ready for service by December 1st, and the sanitarium will probably be officially opened some time near that date.

The building is a modern fireproof brick plant, five stories high, with twelve wings. Three elevators will be installed. There will be 16 ward beds and the remainder of the institution is given over to private rooms, each one having a closet and lavatory adjoining.

A suite of five rooms will be devoted to X-ray purposes; three operating rooms and other offices will be featured. The sanitarium is to be run with an open staff, any eligible physician being permitted to conduct practice and operations there and attend patients to the institution. Situated on a six-acre plot on North Hickory street, the new paved driveway to the college and just off the campus of this institution, the sanitarium will not only serve Simmons students who are ill, but will afford an opportunity for possible medical work and observation in connection with pre-medical courses which Simmons has offered for the last three years.

CHINESE POLICEMAN SAVES 2 FROM RIVER

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—Warren Charles, the only policeman in New York of Chinese parentage, has proved himself a hero for the second time. The first time was 18 years ago, when he braved the "hatchet men" of Chinatown in a police campaign to clean the districts and demonstrated his courage.

His latest exploit was the saving the lives of two brother policemen who were being dragged down by a swimming longshoreman under Brooklyn bridge. The officers, including Charles, jumped off the pier when they heard John Tilden crying for help.

BAPTISTS END ANNUAL MEET

Crowds Turned from Church
At Closing Sessions

PLAINVIEW, Texas, Aug. 3.—The increasing audience reached a climax Sunday morning when hundreds were turned away from the new tabernacle seating 2,000, at the Plainview Baptist assembly and a second sermon was started up the creek a short distance on a small mount near the caretaker's home. The assembly was honored with the presence of some of the most prominent Baptists of the Southern Baptist association. Dr. S. P. Brooks, president of Baylor University, and Dr. Townsend, president of Baylor college, spoke.

MISSING GIRL BACK MAINTAINS SILENCE

MENASHA, Wis., Aug. 3.—Maintaining silence as to her whereabouts for the last three days, Gertrude Bajewski, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Bajewski, returned to her home. Her disappearance last Monday night was followed by a statewide search by police. When questioned by authorities and her parents, the girl steadfastly refused to talk.

STIR IS CAUSED BY KLAN CROSS

Corpus Christi to Hold Hearing on K. K. K. Sign

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas, Aug. 1.—The Corpus Christi Knights of the Ku Klux Klan want to install a large flaming cross on their meeting hall in this city.

The cross was put up and burned brightly the night before and on the night of July 4. But it is said the cross was erected without obtaining a permit from the city officials; the cross was taken down. It was lighted with red electric lights.

Shortly after this the council passed an ordinance calculated to regulate the erection of signs. It has been pointed out that the ordinance was to govern the erection of a sign by the local klansmen.

Permit Required
It has now developed that the local knights are the first to encounter the restrictive provisions of the ordinance.

Among other things the ordinance prescribes that a permit must be granted before any sign can be erected. The permit is then filed and permission delayed if at least five tax-paying voters of the city file a protest against granting the permit. It is set out in the ordinance that the permit to erect the sign would not be granted if it jeopardized public safety, or was inimical to the peace of the community.

The Klan then asked for a permit to erect its cross over the building. The application was filed in the usual manner.

Protest Filed
At last week's meeting of the council a protest, signed by seven citizens was presented to the council. The protest sets out that erecting the sign would be an extra fire hazard and inimical to the peace of the community. Under the ordinance, if a protest is filed a public hearing shall be held after all parties have been notified.

If the application is granted, permit may be delayed if at least 100 tax paying voters file a further protest.

The city engineer says the sign would not be an extra fire hazard.

Yes, He Had No Melons; Guess What

An entire evening at McFadden's beach yesterday was spoiled for a Beaumont young man, and it was all caused by his extravagant and reckless expenditure of 40 cents.

Leaving the Seventh End in a big touring car, accompanied by two beautiful young ladies and a young man, the youth was speeding along the South Beaumont road when he was forced to slow down by a farm wagon loaded with what appeared to be the most delicious looking cantaloupes ever carried to market. The young man drove up alongside the wagon and asked the farmer:

"How much you want for those?"

"Twenty cents apiece," replied the farmer.

"Gimme two of 'em," said the young man in as business-like tone as he could command.

The "two of 'em" were placed in the back end of the car in a hamper of ice which contained cats and water, and the journey to McFadden's beach was resumed. Arriving at the gulf the young people had a delightful swim and enjoyed themselves very much until time came for lunch. The young man who purchased the "cantaloupes" from the farmer borrowed some salt and pepper from one of the stands near by, grabbed up one of the "melons," and ran to the shore where he intended to prepare the delicious product for eating. Cutting the "melon" open he stared for a moment in amazement—he had never before seen a cantaloupe that looked like that. He picked up one of the halves and held it to his nostrils in order to make a sure test. It was evidently not the perfume the young man expected, because he suddenly turned his nose toward the gulf, took a deep inhalation of the cool, refreshing salt breeze, and then turned for one more "smell" of the thing he held in his hand. There was no mistaking the odor this time—he had attended too many Halloween parties. He had purchased two perfectly good pumpkins from the farmer. He threw the two sections into the gulf, walked back to the car, took the other pumpkin, threw it into the gulf, and told his friends: "That farmer sold me two rotten cantaloupes; let's go home!"

Fire, fighter, is properly pronounced (but not often) Fear-fo, as in "Fear poor Dempsy."

MISSIONARIES IN CONFERENCE

Many Attending Meeting at Kerrville

KERRVILLE, Texas, Aug. 2.—Dr. H. F. Williams presided at the induction of the Foreign Mission conference here. This three-day conference period will be noteworthy for crowded hours.

Actively associated in the program are mission field workers who hold Texas as their native land. Among them are Rev. and Mrs. Frank W. McElroy of the Congo country, Central Africa.

Mr. and Mrs. McElroy are located many hundred miles beyond the navigable waters of the Congo river. Australia is their Texas home. Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Cleveland, also from the Congo, are San Antonians.

From the other dark continent come Dr. and Mrs. J. P. Young of Palestine, Texas, who are devoted to mission work in China. Dr. Young devotes his medical knowledge to the missionary cause and it has long since been demonstrated that to cure the ills of the body is essential to successful Christian conversion.

AUTO SPOONERS MISS SYMPATHY IN COURT

ROCHESTER, Aug. 2.—Automobile spooners in the town of Gates are not getting off with tolerant admonitions from constables patrolling the roads. Instead of telling "spooners" to move on, the officers are haling them into court, where there is no hesitation about imposing fines.

A new record of convictions for "obstructing the highway" last month has been filed in the county clerk's office from Justice of the Peace McDowell's court, showing that nine motorists were fined or forfeited bail on this charge. Four others were convicted of disorderly conduct.

THE GUMPS—THE MERMAID

"Rrrr! Grrr!" he growled, gnashing his teeth.

Nancy and Nick and Mister Sky Bow tippy toed up close to the place old Cross Patch lived behind a lot of sharp nettles and smartweed and thistles.

"Goodness! I can't get over those things!" whispered the fairy man. "I have no magic shoes like you have."

"Oh but we'll help you," whispered Nick and Nick and I can make a jump out of our hands and then you can jump on and we'll wish ourselves over."

"Fine," said the fairy softly. Not so loud because Cross Patch might be listening."

So Nancy and Nick made a "London bridge" and Mister Sky Bow on down on it and put an arm around each of their necks.

"My, my, I'm as comfortable as I can in my own hammock at home," he said delightedly. "Now then! One for the money, two for the show, three to make ready and four to go."

When he said "go" the Twins made a wish and their magic shoes lifted them right off the ground and over the thistles and nettles and things and—there they were!

But something else was there, too! Old Cross Patch himself.

"Rrrr! Grrr!" he growled, gnashing his teeth. "Who are you and what do you want?"

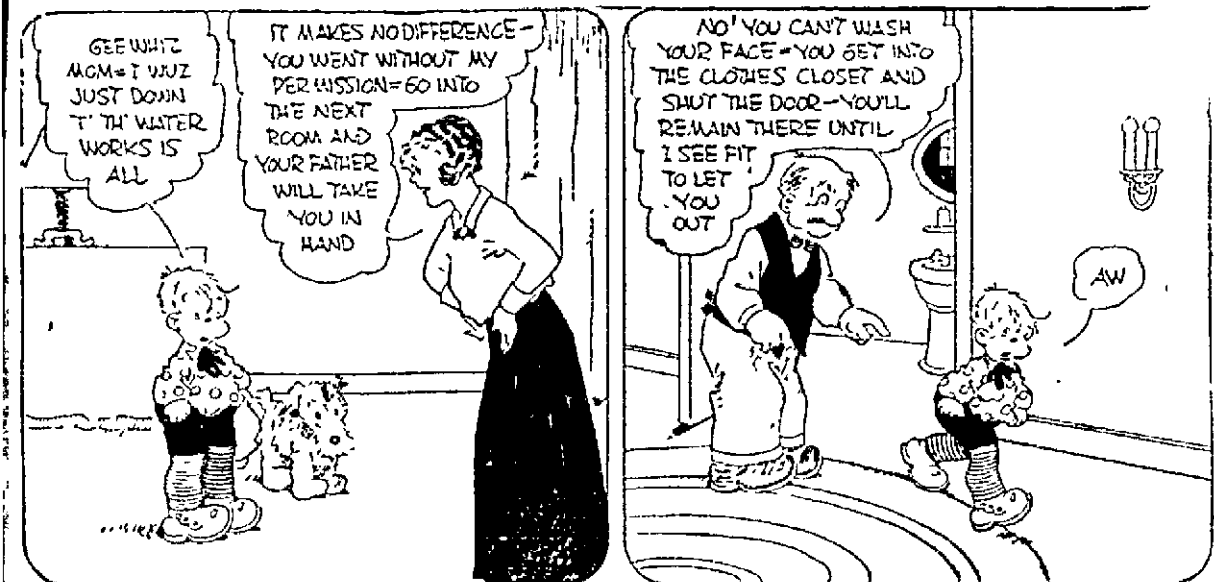

Nick spoke up bravely. "We're after your bad old magic stick and we're going to get it. You've made everybody in Rainbow Land unhappy and bewitched the nice little Gloomys, too. We're going to take your stick and bewitch them back again."

And the Twins made a wish. But quick as a wink old Cross Patch threw down a lot of banana skins, and the whole three of them went sprawling on the ground.

HARDING DIES SUDDENLY

PRESIDENT FALLS ASLEEP LIKE A TIRED CHILD
AS MRS. HARDING READS TO HIM AT BEDSIDE

Coolidge Takes Oath at Plymouth, Vermont

Thirtieth President of the United States
Sworn in Father's House in Little
Hamlet of 449 Population

PLYMOUTH, Vt., Aug. 3.—Calvin Coolidge is President of the United States. He took the oath of office here this morning. The oath was taken in private, in the old farm house of his father here.

PLYMOUTH, Vermont, Aug. 3.—Friday.—President Calvin Coolidge received exactly at midnight Thursday the news of President Harding's death which will elevate Coolidge to the presidency.

The news came as a great shock to the vice president, and his first thought and that of Mrs. Coolidge, was to send a message of condolence to Mrs. Harding.

When Mr. Coolidge came downstairs to welcome the newspaper men, he held a telegram from Secretary Christian, notifying him of the President's death. He was calm, but Mrs. Coolidge, who stood beside him, appeared to be on the verge of tears.

Coolidge stopped to say, "Hello, boys," to the newspaper men. Then he dictated the following telegram to Mrs. Harding:

"We offer you our deepest sympathy. May God bless you and keep you.

(Signed) Calvin Coolidge, Grace Coolidge."

He then dictated the following statement: "Reports have reached me that President Harding has gone. The world has lost a great and good man. I mourn his loss. He was my chief and my friend."

Coolidge Says
He'll Follow Out
Harding's Principles

"It will be my purpose to carry out the policies which he had begun, for the service of the American people and for the meeting of their responsibilities wherever they may arise.

"For this purpose I shall seek the cooperation of all those who have been associated with the President during his term of office. As for those who have given their efforts to assist him, I wish them to remain in office, that they may assist me.

"I have faith that God will direct the destinies of our nation."

Old fashioned lamps lighted but dimly the typical New England parlor in which Coolidge stood as he received the news of President Harding's end. It was an humble setting—one that the vice president might have chosen could he have selected the spot in which to hear he was to become, through a tragedy, the next President of the United States.

It may be in this same parlor, into which the townspeople who have known "Cal" since he was a barefoot boy of Plymouth were beginning to crowd as the word spread, that Coolidge will be given the oath of office.

Presidents Body to Be Taken to Washington

SAN FRANCISCO, August. 2.—President Harding's body will be taken direct to Washington on a special train leaving San Francisco at 7 p. m. tomorrow, it was officially announced this evening.

The official announcement said: "The president's party, as has been traveling, with the addition of General Pershing, Attorney General Daugherty, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Remsberg and family (Mrs. Remsberg being a sister of President Harding), will leave San Francisco about 7 o'clock Friday evening. There will be no other additions to the party.

How President Harding Died

PALACE HOTEL, San Francisco, Aug. 3.—Here is how President Harding died:

Mrs. Harding was seated beside his bed, reading from a magazine.

At the end of a paragraph, she paused and let the magazine drop into her lap.

"That sounds good, go ahead," said the President.

They were his last words.

A moment later he threw his right hand over his head—and sank down.

than these indicated, except a military and naval guard of honor of 16 enlisted men and two officers representing the army and a like representation of the navy. No stops will be made en route except those necessary in operation of the train. The train will go from San Francisco via Reno, Ogden, Cheyenne, Omaha, Chicago and thence to Washington. It is not possible tonight to give further details of the route.

"The president's remains will be borne in the rear car, which will be lighted at night and at all times. The two soldiers and two sailors will stand at attention guarding the casket.

"The remains will not be taken from the hotel except to go directly to the train. There will be only the very simplest private ceremony at the hotel before they are moved."

Scenes of indescribable confusion, bordering on panic followed the first alarm, which spread quickly after Mrs. Harding had summoned the doctors.

It quickly became evident that something had gone wrong. Arrival of the doctors confirmed this. In a few minutes the official announcement of death showed the full extent of the tragedy.

The word spread through the hotel like wildfire. It got on the streets. Instantly crowds surged into the hotel and filled the corridors leading to the Harding suite. Police and detectives, with all the rest, to clear the halls for passage of members of the president's official party who arrived by ones and twos, their faces horror-stricken.

Harding's Aged Father Is Heartbroken at News

MARION, Ohio, Aug. 2.—Dr. George Harding, father of the President, was near a breakdown here tonight.

Informed of the death of his President son, the blow left the aged man dumb with grief.

For hours he sat motionless. Later he began wringing his hands, mumbling to himself, "Boys, this is terrible; boys, this is terrible! My! My! Warren has gone."

His first coherent statement was: "Warren had the interest of his country at heart. There never has been a president since Abraham Lincoln who has had the interest of his country at heart like Warren."

The late President's relatives were speeding to Marion late today, having received the tragic news of the death of their kinsman president.

Apoplectic Stroke Snuffs Out Life of Stricken President Without a Moment of Warning

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 2.—President Harding died at 7:30 p. m. without warning.

A cerebral hemorrhage, or apoplexy, killed him just when his doctors had deemed him well on the road to recovery from the illness which abruptly halted his long journey, begun June 20.

The President's death was officially announced by his five physicians who had been hurriedly summoned after Mrs. Harding, who was sitting at her husband's bedside, had run into the corridor of the presidential suite wringing her hands and crying, "Send for Dr. Boone."

Four members of the cabinet, Secretary of the Interior Work, Attorney General Daugherty, Secretary of Commerce Hoover, and Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, who were members of the personal party, at once joined in sending official notification of the president's death to Vice President Coolidge, who is in Vermont and who thus by the tragic turn of events becomes the nation's chief executive.

President Harding's body will be taken directly to Washington, the funeral train leaving San Francisco late Friday. Burial will be in Marion, Ohio. This decision was reached tonight.

When Doctors Sawyer and Boone rushed into the President's room following Mrs. Harding's frantic summons, Mr. Harding was dead. His death was marked only by a slight shudder.

The President's body probably will be taken from San Francisco Friday evening, an official announcement made by Judson C. Welliver at 9:05 p. m. stated. At that time Welliver said, it had not been determined whether it would be taken to Marion or Washington. The body will be taken directly from the Palace Hotel to the funeral train.

Police had to be called to clear the corridors near the presidential suite, as a crowd of hotel guests and people who had heard the news in the city crowded in. Though there was a great crowd in the hallways, it was a silent crowd—the hush of death brooded over the place.

Judson C. Welliver, the president's close friend and confidant, leaned against the wall.

The other doctors—Work, Wilbur and Cooper—were at once summoned. There was nothing they could do but determine the cause of death. This they quickly decided was a cerebral hemorrhage.

It snuffed the president's life in an instant, without warning.

Mrs. Harding, with amazing fortitude, turned to those at the bedside, as they turned to her, and said: "I am not going to breakdown." They led her away to her room.

Harding in Last Speech Exalts Christ Spirit of Deeds and Service

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., August 3.—Civilization needs "more of the Christ spirit, more of the Christ practice, and a new and abiding consecration to reverence for God."

This was the message brought from President Harding Thursday to the Knights Templar of California, by George B. Christian, Mr. Harding's secretary, the last the president prepared and dictated from the death-bed.

By the president's direction, Christian read before the Grand Commandery, Knights Templar, a speech Mr. Harding had intended to deliver in person in transferring the "beausant," or sacred banner of the order, from the jurisdiction of Ohio commanderies to the temporary keeping of the California knights.

The "beausant" is a reproduction of the banner under which the crusading Knights of the Middle Ages fought in their attempts to redeem the Holy Land from the Saracens. The present day "beausant" is on a pilgrimage, being transferred from time to time from one jurisdiction to another, with appropriate ceremonies. President Harding was selected by the Marion, Ohio, commandery to bring the banner to California.

"I am sure the mission of the 'beausant' will be a failure if its travels are made simply a matter of symbolism and pagantry," the president's message said. "We should glorify the Holy Name not by words, not by praise, not by displays at arms, but by deeds and service in behalf of human brotherhood. Some one has said, in speaking of our present-day civilization, that we need less of religion and more of Christianity. This may be crudely expressed, but it contains a great truth. Perhaps I will best express my thought if I say we need less of sectarianism, less of denominationalism; less of fanatical zeal and its exactions, and more of the Christ spirit, more of the Christ practice, and a new and abiding consecration of reverence for God.

"I am a confirmed optimist as to the growth of the spirit of brotherhood."

The president paid a tribute to fraternal organizations founded upon a basis of Christian brotherly love. He told how, in Alaska, he was admitted to membership in the Alaska Pioneers a secret fraternal order.

"I was obligated never to kick a dog or to work a horse with a sore back or shoulder," he said. "Now that was a simple thing that Christ himself would have urged; it was an expression of mercy and affection by these pioneers for the brutes who could not speak a protest, of considerate concern for a life of service."

Coolidge, 'Dirt Farmer,' Says Little, Does Much, is Family Man

IS BROUGHT FROM OBSCURITY WHEN HE ENDED STRIKE

Typical New Englander, Taciturn Almost to Puritan Sternness, Won Fame Over Night by Quelling Police Walkout

PLYMOUTH, Vt., August 3.—Calvin Coolidge is a plain man who qualifies in the strictest meaning of the term "dirt farmer." He is in appearance and manner and habit of thought and life the typical New Englander, a reserved taciturn, somewhat sharp-featured man who says little and does much, dotes on his family, is a regular church attendant, and worker and when speaking uses as a foundation of his arguments the homely hard philosophy of the descendants of the puritans.

Coolidge was born in the completely American village of Plymouth, on the fourth of July, 1872. He is now just past 51. His entire history is the history of the typical New Englander that he appears to be. He was educated at Amherst, than which there is no more typical New England university. He studied law with Hammon and Field, in the typical New England town of Northampton, Mass.

Former Massachusetts Governor

He married Grace A. Goodhue, a New England woman from Burlington, Vermont. He began his law practice at Northampton, Mass., in 1897. His progress from then on in business, profession, and politics was the progress common to a sterling son of the superior Atlantic states with the industry and thrift common to the broad and more than the ordinary amount of mental brilliance. He was in turn president of the Northampton Savings bank, councilman of Northampton, city solicitor, clerk of courts, member of the general court of Massachusetts, state senator, president of the state senate, lieutenant governor of Massachusetts, and then governor of the Old Bay State.

Calvin's progress upward was quiet and orderly. There was nothing of the spectacular about him until his second term as governor. He was known in Massachusetts and fairly well throughout the New England states but until 1919 he was just one of 48 state governors as far as national prominence went.

The Path to Fame.

Then during the wave of unrest that swept over the country immediately following the strike when strike was succeeding strike in all the basic industries of the country and there was serious fear of Red rising along bolshevik lines, the police of Boston organized, made certain demands on the city which were not met and went out on strike. The city officials were too scared to fight, but Calvin Coolidge, then governor of the state gained national prominence overnight by proving in action that he was not afraid of his political or physical life when American institutions were threatened. He called out the militia, the town under martial law, refused to deal with the striking policemen in any way, except to fire them all. His was the first big official voice to the cross bolshevik in this country with out a tremor in that era of unrest that followed the close of the war.

Coolidge took his stand on a bit of old-fashioned Americanism. He declared in unequivocal terms that policemen were servants of the public, as much committed to the public service by their oath as a soldier in the army, and that as such they had no more right to strike than a soldier has to abandon his outfit in time of action.

Strike the Strike.

The strike was broken order maintained during its duration, and the police force reorganized by this quiet man with his streak of real old-fashioned New England grit. Within a few days of the time he took charge of the situation in Boston, he was a nationally known figure.

His appearance and manner were subjects of columns of comment in all the papers of the country. The Coolidge view on the gentle problems of the day were widely set forth. The national reaction to these, the views of a conventional New England farmer, business man, lawyer and politician were productive of opposing storms of praise and approbation. The more conservative elements of the country hailed him as the outstanding leader who could be trusted to stem the tide of radicalism that was rising high at that period. The radicals derided and assailed him as their chief foe. He was prominently placed up as a presidential candidate before the convention at Chicago in 1920, but his name was not put up for the presidency.

Since his election Calvin Coolidge, the quiet, this typical New Englander with the homely philosophy, has considerably dropped from public view. He is no publicity seeker. He is not a snob, conventional looking New Englander who shows the lime light

Then while town-folk pressed their faces against the window panes to see their cal, whom many had known since he was a barefoot lad, Mr. Coolidge dictated the following statement to his secretary:

To Follow Harding's Policies.

"Reports have reached me that President Harding is gone. He was my chief and my friend. It will be my purpose to carry out the policies which he had begun for the service of the people and for the merit of their responsibilities wherever they may arise.

"For this purpose, I shall seek the cooperation of all those who have been associated with the president during his term of office. Those who have given their efforts to assist him I wish to remain in office, that they may assist me. I have faith that God will direct the destinies of our nation."

Then came the telegram from Daugherty, a short time afterward, the old-fashioned New England farmer, for was the scene of the simplest inauguration in American history—simpler even than that of Andrew Jackson, who rode his horse up to the capital and tethered it to a nearby hitching post while he went upstairs to take the oath.

COOLIDGE HAS NO SUCCESSOR

Complications Arise in Assumption of Presidency

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—Political leaders here today were faced with a confused question of the proper procedure in reorganization of the government as the result of the death of President Harding, and the assumption to the presidency of former Vice President Coolidge.

This is the situation: There will be no successor to Mr. Coolidge as vice president until the next regular elections, as there is no provision by constitution or other wise for such a successor.

Special Session Unlikely

The president's own temper of the senate to be elected when the next congress convenes will be acting vice president in the place of Mr. Coolidge and will receive the salary of vice president.

Senator Cummings, republican of Iowa, president pro tempore of the next congress, may not stand for reelection to this post in the next congress, it is said, and Senator Curtis, Kansas, republican whip, has been spoken of as the next president pro tempore.

There is believed here today to be occasion for no special session of congress unless President Coolidge wants to form a cabinet, in which the senate would have to continue nominations of new members.

SOLEMN SCENE

calmly.

The first thought of Mr. Coolidge and of his wife the first lady of the land, was for the beloved of the land in San Francisco.

They sent this telegram: "We offer our deepest sympathy. May God bless and keep you."

Calvin Coolidge, "Grace Coolidge."

Then while town-folk pressed their faces against the window panes to see their cal, whom many had known since he was a barefoot lad, Mr. Coolidge dictated the following statement to his secretary:

"Reports have reached me that President Harding is gone. He was my chief and my friend. It will be my purpose to carry out the policies which he had begun for the service of the people and for the merit of their responsibilities wherever they may arise.

PRESIDENT CALVIN COOLIDGE AND THE FIRST LADY OF THE LAND

AGED FATHER HEART BROKEN

Dr. Geo. T. Harding, 80, Is Stricken With Grief

MARION, August 3.—An aged man, his proud heart grief-stricken by the death of his son, President Harding, lay on a couch in the East Center street home today and mourned the loss of his "boy."

For George T. Harding, 80, the first man to see his son sworn in as president of the United States, the death of Warren G. Harding is a grave personal as well as a national tragedy.

Attendants said the aged physician was near a breakdown. Informed by newspapermen shortly before midnight of his president son's death, Dr. Harding immediately recognized the full purpose of the message.

He sank to his bed mumbling: "Boys, this is terrible." Boys, this is terrible."

"My, my," Warren has gone."

A father's eulogy

A few minutes later, after a group of close friends had gathered at the Harding home to comfort him in his grief, Dr. Harding said:

"Warren had the interests of his country at heart. These men have been a president since Abraham Lincoln who has had the interests of his country at heart like Warren."

News of the tragedy came last night as a stunning shock to the community which has been cheered by favorable reports from the president's bedside after the illness which struck him down a week ago.

Thousands of citizens, close friends and old schoolmates of the president, swarmed to the office of the Marion Star, formerly edited by Mr. Harding, to express their sympathy and to tell their tales of the report.

Printers and reporters, who had worked side by side with the president through his rise as editor of the Star, worked over typewriters and "make-up" stones with tears streaming down their cheeks as they helped the morning paper tell its readers the first story they ever wanted to read.

Marion in Mourning

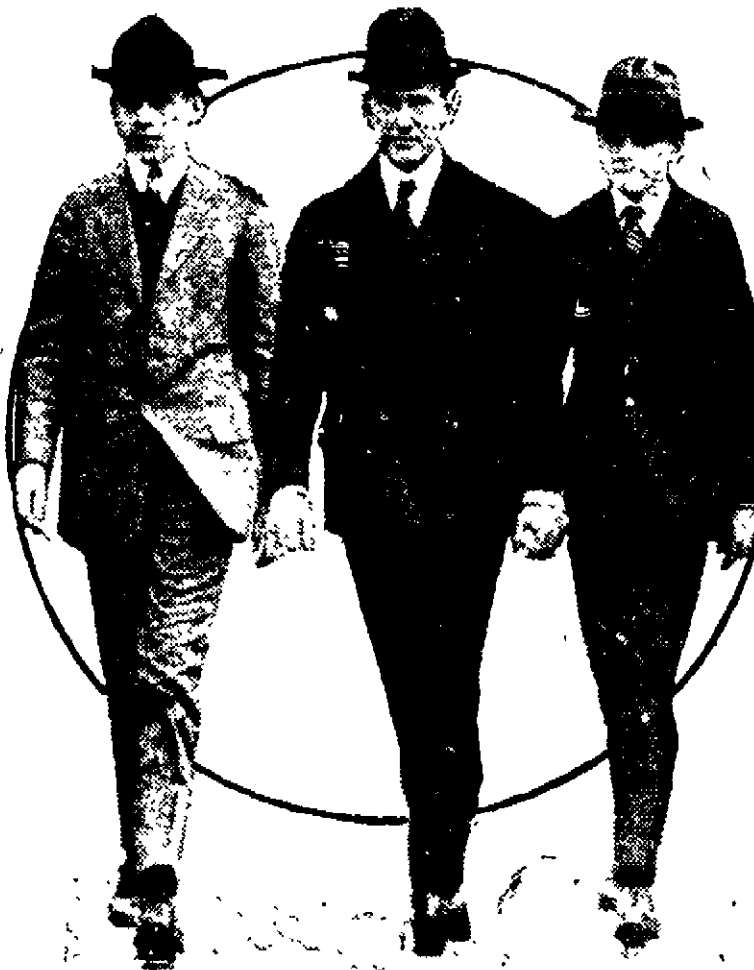

Friends of Mr. Harding who knew him first as a reporter and later as editor of the little newspaper called how he and Mrs. Harding, working together brought the paper safely through many financial difficulties.

Not a business house opened in the dingy streets of Marion today. The townspeople grouped on corners and discussed the fame of their native son and attended requiem services at St. Paul's Episcopal church at 7 a. m.

The late president's relatives were speeding to Marion where Mr. Harding's body will be brought from Washington for burial.

Miss Abigail Harding, with Mrs. Heber Volz, both sisters of the president, were enroute from Washington. Dr. George T. Harding, Jr., already is at his father's bedside.

HARDING CABINET WILL REMAIN IN

Accede to Wish of President Coolidge

SAN FRANCISCO, August 3.—Members of President Harding's cabinet who are here will accede to the wish of his successor, President Coolidge, that they remain their portfolios.

As a matter of form and custom, the cabinet members will be expected to sign their resignations to the new president, permitting him to make any changes in his official family he deems desirable.

Mr. Coolidge, however, made it known immediately upon assuming office that he desired all of Mr. Harding's department heads to stand by.

The assumption is that he wants them to help him carry out the Harding policies.

TWO DRIVER LICENSES CASES ARE DISMISSED

With the cases still pending against 18 Port Arthur drivers charged with violations of the statute providing for the licensing of drivers, Judge Ellis stated that two of the cases were to be dismissed.

Upon the technician, that they were employed as solicitors and not as car drivers for local businesses, cases filed against C. E. Maundlin and T. H. Reading were dropped.

No action has yet been taken on the remainder of the men ordered to report for not having chauffeur's licenses.

GENTLE HAND OF DEATH WELCOME TO PRES. HARDING

Bitter Disillusionments of Heart Atuned to Ideal Hounded Magistrate, Who Preferred Open Hearedness of Main Street

WASHINGTON, August 3.—President Harding died while seeking to plead the cause of world peace and domestic tranquility directly among the people who had elected him.

The breakdown which resulted in his passing was due to overstrain attendant upon this campaign.

Curiously enough, President Harding's strong physique faltered on the eve of his address scheduled at San Francisco, appealing for American participation in a world tribunal to preserve the peace of the world. It was just four years ago next month that Woodrow Wilson broke down under the strain of a similar campaign and passed out of the White House an invalid.

Death came to the president at a time when the burdens of his office were beginning to weigh heavily upon him. He found himself in the midst of a bitter battle over his foreign policy, the latest development of which was his determination to have America enter the world court. He also was confronted with assurance of party irregularity and strife on domestic issues in the next congress.

Many of his intimate friends here who knew Harding as a man, rather than as the president, expressed the view today that after all death must have come to him as a welcome relief.

Disillusioned.

"I've got the worst job that was ever wished on a man," Harding (for a middlewestern senator in a little moment of disillusionment a few days before he left the White House on his tour that has just ended so tragically) once said.

He has grown on "Main street" and never quite got to feel at home in the White House. The atmosphere of reserve, self-censorship, and the scheming ambition that possessed many of the satellites who gathered around every president worried him. He often commented to his friends that he had never really known human nature in its daily aspects until he became president. Little party tricks, series that other presidents passed over as part of the game irritated him and made him unhappy. Element of honesty was one of the conspicuous things about Harding.

"That goes out," he would remark after going over a written speech or sounds that he had written, "I can't sound like that. I can't sound like a scholar. I use that 'so well' have to get about without 'Cromwell'."

His Main Street Code.

During the front porch campaign someone ransacking a Marion attic found a picture of the old Caldon, Silver Cornet band in which Harding played the tuba when a young man. But when the newspaper syndicate, which intended to print it throughout the country, wanted to identify one person in the picture who looked like Harding, probably 50 years before, Harding said: "No, I couldn't have been in that picture because I didn't have any uniforms when I played in the band." Another good bit of campaign material squandered on the altar of his Main street code.

But Harding never was a "good good" even as a kid in the swimming hole on Whitestone creek near Caldonia. Little "Doc Harding," as he was known because of his father's profession had to resort to all the tricks of boxville to dry his hair before he went home to his mother from the swimming hole. And there are legends that he could chew tobacco and spit as far as any other kid in the gang.

They were sturdy folk in Marion county and Warren's father didn't mind much doctoring to die. Consequently young Harding, when he entered the new defunct Ohio Central college at Lima, Ohio, earned his way by painting barns.

Fourteen Fire Alarms Sounded During July

Fourteen fire alarms were turned in to Port Arthur fire stations during the month of July, according to the report of Fire Marshall J. J. Co. submitted to the city commission today.

The report shows that during the month a total of $3,020 was lost through fires, one of which was caused by carelessness and one of which started from an undetected chimney. The losses range from $20 to $1,500.

One hundred thirty-nine permits were checked by the fire marshals department during the month, the report continued, and 17 new ones were issued.

Co. further showed that 22 buildings were inspected and that 11 corrections were ordered.

Puzzling Plays

THE PLAY
What are the rights of the coach?
A play came up in a minor league game last summer that brought up the point as to whether the intent of a coach must be given consideration.

With two out and runners on second and third, with the ball in the pitcher's possession while standing on the rubber, the coach at third dashed for the plate yelling "Home!" "Home!" His intent was to draw a throw from the pitcher.

The pitcher stepped off the rubber, intending, perhaps to throw the ball home, but seeing it was the coach's running, made no play.

The umpire declared the runner on third out because of the act of the coach. He held that if the coach attempts to draw a throw because of his actions the runner on third is out whether or not a play is made.

THE INTERPRETATION
The umpire was wrong in ruling the runner on third was out because of the coach's dashing toward the plate, because no play was made.

The rule states he must draw the throw to the home base for the runner to be declared out.

If such a play came up in a game in which I was umpire, I would suspend the play and send the coach to the bench or the clubhouse.

Nederland and Port Neches School Growth Places Institutions in Front Rank

HICKS TELLS OF RAPID PROGRESS

Pt. Neches Schools Are Now Matter for Pride

The first school in Port Neches was erected in 1911.

"Back in those days," relates School Superintendent J. H. Hicks, "Port Neches had a two-story brick structure consisting of eight rooms and a basement that was the first school."

And since that time Port Neches has grown from three teachers and 120 scholars, somewhat handicapped by the absence of the modern conveniences and equipments of the 1923 school, to a modern structure situated on seven acres of land with ten rooms and a large auditorium, and a modern five-room cottage in which the "home making" department of the institution is conducted by 21 instructors, six of whom devote their entire time to the high school curriculum.

Favors Group Plan
Port Neches has gradually developed her school life. The old structure formerly recognized as the high school building is still in use, having been modernized and transferred into a grade school. The building fronts one of Port Neches' excellently shelled highways, and is on a direct line with the new high school building, erected in its rear.

"We have imbibed the idea here," Professor Hicks asserted, "of keeping all our school system together; consequently we have our grade and our high school work going on within the same territory."

Student enrollment during the past year counted 572, exclusive of the kindergarten classes, which numbered 60 in all, thus making Port Neches' school attendance run over the 600 mark. The students range in years from 5 to 25, according to Professor Hicks, who predicts that within another year Port Neches will enjoy a more enthusiastic and larger attendance.

The public schools were ungraded when Professor Hicks, officer in the United States medical corps during the world war, took charge three years ago. At that time there were practically no affiliations with higher institutions of learning, it was asserted; while at the present time the school has raised itself to a basis of 15 units for graduation, with 12 Carnegie units affiliation at state university.

22 Units of Study
"We conduct a course of 22 units of study," Professor Hicks asserted, "seven of which are optional."
The department of "home making," encompassing domestic science, covers a field not quite touched by any other high school course in the state of Texas now, and which was added only recently to the high school course at Port Neches.

"During the coming season," Professor Hicks concluded, "we plan to install a business course and a business department, teaching the rudiments of bookkeeping, shorthand and typewriting."
"We also plan to increase the size of our school campus and feel sure that within the very near future we will have a 15-acre tract to replace the seven acres the school structures now occupy."

THOUGHT GUN EMPTY; FIRED KILLING BOY

FORT WORTH, Texas, Aug. 4.—The third child death as the result of firearms accidentally discharged by a juvenile was marked up in Fort Worth when 11-year-old Walter Ellis Fulcher shot mortally wounded in the bedroom of his playmate, Coleman Weatherly, 17 years old, 2206 Ellis avenue. The Fulcher boy is in the morgue of the North Fort Worth Undertaking company. He died before he reached the Baptist hospital in an ambulance. Weatherly is in the county jail pending investigation of the circumstances surrounding the death of his little pal.

CHARACTER READING URGED IN SCHOOLS

ATLANTA, Ga., Aug. 4.—The scheme of reading character by facial examination should be included in public school curriculums, according to Dr. George L. Clark, president of the Merton Institute of Philadelphia. By means of charts and oral explanations the speaker showed the use of the science of character reading and predicted that it will shortly be in universal demand because of its importance in vocational advising.

NOW ISN'T THAT THE ANTEATER'S UMBRELLA

CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—The ant eater that uses his tail for a parasol when it is not sweeping ants into a pile for eating was brought back by Edmund Heller, a naturalist from the jungles of South America.

Among the other specimens obtained by Heller was a rufous, similar to a rat and the only animal of the kind ever brought here alive; a bird that is valued for its oil for cooking and medicinal purposes; many specimens of the howler monkey, vampire bats and birds.

ROOSTER GETS SORE AT EGGS; BREAKS 'EM

PANA, Ill., Aug. 4.—John Brunner, a farmer here, has a rooster that attempted to hatch out his own brood.

For three weeks the rooster sat on twelve eggs as faithfully as any hen. Frequently he would get off the nest, crow, strut about and then return to the eggs.

When none of the eggs showed signs of hatching he gave up, and vented his temper by breaking all the eggs with his spurs.

Girls to Get First Hand Experience

If Port Neches young men draw a partner in the matrimonial lottery who is not up to her housework it will be because they didn't patronize home industry.

Being quick to recognize the need of practice as well as theory, the school system installed a five-room house on the campus, modern in every respect, to give Port Neches young girls a liberal education in housework.

The course is known on the curriculum of the local school as "home making," and it is intended that the young coed graduates shall "know their groceries" when they have finished this course.

The course and equipment were passed on by Miss Jessie Harris, director of the home economics course at the University of Texas.

The cottage was built last year and the class of '23 at Port Neches high school received a year's training in the rudiments of the art.

Included in the cottage is a model kitchen to go in hand with the domestic science courses. A pantry for the same purpose was built in the house. A nursery, sewing and fitting room and dining room, where the young girls are trained in the gentle art of reaching a man's heart by way of his stomach, completes the arrangements.

Though installed but last year the course in home making proved quite popular with the pupils, 21 registering for the course last year. This year the number will be increased to 24.

Last year's class was taught by Miss Martha Gaskill.

Taking it all in all, Cupid's personal representative at Port Neches is in for a busy season before long when the young coeds decide to try their handiwork in their own homes.

WOMAN FLAGS TRAIN, SAVED ON TRESTLE

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 4.—Melodrama walked the tracks of the Southern Pacific railroad in San Francisco.

As the Watsonville express boomed out of tunnel No. 3, Engineer H. H. Connors beheld, in the rays of his searchlight beam, a woman waving madly and standing between the rails in the train's path. He jammed on the emergency brakes and stopped a few feet short of Mrs. Lola Brown. Mrs. Brown declared she had fallen out of the window of a San Jose train just ahead of the Watsonville express. The track at that point ran on a viaduct and there was no escape for her.

CANOEIST REFUSES AID AS CHILDREN DROWN

STILLWATER, Minn., Aug. 4.—Emil Bretzel, 11, and his sister, Helen, 8, of St. Paul, were drowned in the St. Croix river, near here while two canoeists refused to extend aid for fear of upsetting their canoe.

The two children were wading at the beach when they walked into a hole and sank from sight near the canoe. Neither of the bodies has been recovered.

A NEW EDIFICE FOR NEDERLAND

$100,000 Structure To Be Modern of Its Kind

Contract for Nederland's $100,000 new school building will be let within the next six weeks and it is expected the structure will be ready for occupancy in the spring of 1923.

Announcement of the progress on the preliminary work on the new school building is made by E. W. Jackson, superintendent of the Nederland schools, and the plans for the proposed building are now nearing completion in the offices of R. H. Hunt & Co., architects, of Chattanooga, Tenn., designers of the South Park schools, he said.

8 1-2-Acre Sites
Purchase of an eight and a half acre school site one block off the Port Arthur-Bonham highway on Magnolia street, at a cost of approximately $7000 has been made by the Nederland district school board, Superintendent Jackson said, and the new school building will be built on this tract of land.

"The new building has now planned will be used for high school grades and will provide facilities for 400 students," Superintendent Jackson said. "An auditorium with a seating capacity for 700 is included in the plans being drawn for the building and other features are superintendent's and principal's offices, a gymnasium, a first aid medical room, a music room with sound-proof double walls, radio equipment, and moving picture machines and screens, enabling us to not only give visual educational work but free community entertainments, as well."

Add Grade, 2 Departments

"As the plans for the new building progress we also are making plans for enlarging the scope of the school work which will be opened September 3 for the 1923-24 term, adding an eleventh grade and two new departments, a kindergarten and a commercial course. The kindergarten will be for children between the ages of five and six years, and at the present time we have at least 30 enrolled who will start in the kindergarten on the opening day of school."

"Year before last the Nederland schools had no classification. During the year second class rating was awarded us. Then this was increased to first class, and affiliation with the state university, it was increased to seven units. The elementary school of Nederland is one of the very few in the state of Texas given first rank in the state classification," Superintendent Jackson said.

Enrollment At Fall Term To Be Large
Growth of enrollment in Nederland schools from 317 during the past session to between 280 to 290, probably 400 students, is expected to be shown when the schools open for the 1923-24 session on September 3, E. W. Jackson, superintendent of the school, said.

Repairs, renovations and improvements totalling between $1000 and $5000 are now under way at the school building and the four-room pupil frame annex, the superintendent said. These jobs include the installation of a sewer and waterworks system, fresh paint and repairs to the buildings, and present indications are that all will be in readiness for the opening day of school.

The faculty announced by Superintendent Jackson for the 1923-24 term is as follows:

L. D. Adams, principal, science and history; Miss Alberta Ponce, librarian; Miss Alice Biggar, mathematics; Miss Nell Walden, home economics; and Miss Lucille Jameson, music and expression. The place of teacher for history and the modern languages is yet to be filled.

In the lower grades the following are elected to the faculty:

Miss Esther Newberry, sixth grade; Miss Lois Bischoff, fifth grade; Miss Lucille Ritter, fourth grade; Miss Dorothy Jordan, third grade; Miss Christinna Doorbos, second grade; Miss Edna Barron, first grade, and Miss Vera Winfrey, kindergarten.

Members of the board of trustees of the Nederland school district are H. E. Wagner, president; J. M. Morgan, vice president and acting president; Wagner, Captain John Kaper, R. D. Dawson, W. E. Goodwin, M. B. Huffman, J. L. Price and C. E. Gibson, secretary.

Children's Playground M. E. Church Objective

Establishment of an up-to-date playground, equipped with the most modern devices in Nederland is sponsored by the congregation of the First Methodist church there, according to the pastor, Rev. J. N. Vincent.

On the playgrounds would be tennis courts, croquet grounds, swings, sliding boards and other playground attractions, the pastor said.

The only Boy Scout troop in Nederland, with 25 boys enrolled, and directed in their scouting activities by W. B. Huffman, scoutmaster, is in the First Methodist church, Rev. Vincent said. Four of the boys of the Nederland troop went to the summer camp on Beech Creek with Scouts from Port Arthur and Port Neches in June.

KEEP MATCHES, FIRES AWAY FROM DRESSES

PARIS, Aug. 4.—Many of the wonderful new dress materials which make up the wardrobe of the fashionable American woman who buys in Paris are not silk nor chiffon, but pure and simple paper.

Insult, in fact, is added in injury by the further allegation by the French magazine Science et Vie that the paper used in the manufacture of these dress goods is not nice, clean paper, but the refuse of the garbage boxes of Paris.

MOTHER OF 10 ENROLLS IN MERCER UNIVERSITY

MACON, Ga., Aug. 4.—Mrs. Susie Jones Roberts, mother of 10 grown boys and girls today was busy rearing a family of "brain children."

"Having devoted this much of my life to my family, I feel I should give the remainder of my time to my 'brain children,'" Mrs. Roberts said, explaining her reason for entering the journalism department of Mercer University here at her advanced age. Instructors at the university declare Mrs. Roberts is an apt pupil.

L. D. ADAMS TO BE FIRST PRINCIPAL

New $100,000 Structure Necessitates Office

L. D. Adams, recently elected principal of the Nederland schools, will be the first in the history of the schools to hold that position.

Until this year the place of principal has been combined with that of superintendent, but as a result of the progress made on the plans for erecting a new $100,000 school building for the high school classes, adding an eleventh grade, and using the old school building for the elementary grades, the trustees of the Nederland school district created the office of principal, and Adams was elected to fill it.

One of the new principal's first duties will be to build up the athletic activities of the Nederland schools, for in addition to teaching science and history classes, Adams also is chosen athletic coach, school officials said.

During the past season the junior girls' basketball team won the county championship, going through the entire season without meeting defeat. The senior girls' basketball team lost only the last game of the year, and the senior boys went into the finals in the district school meet. The record for the entire school stands at 31 games won out of 43 played.

A lighted basketball court outdoors is one of the features of the athletic equipment at the Port Neches schools, and Superintendent Jackson said recently he plans to have more athletic activities in the schools during the coming season.

TRIAL OF MAGEE IS DELAYED TO AUG. 16

SANTA FE, N. M., Aug. 4.—Trial of Carl C. Magee, editor of the New Mexico State Tribune, at Albuquerque on libel charges brought by Judge C. J. Roberts, special prosecutor in previous cases when Magee was convicted of libel and contempt of court, has been postponed until August 16.

NOTE IN CRACKER BOX BRINGS MAN A WIFE

MOUNT VERNON, Ill., Aug. 4.—Joseph Mosco of Walsenburg, Colo., and Miss Bessie Gray were married here recently. The bride, who was employed in a local baking plant, enclosed a note in a box of crackers asking the finder to write Mr. Mosco wrote and a visit here led to the romance. They will live in Walsenburg.

Adams to Build in Nederland Is Report

Plans for the erection of a modern store building in Nederland by John R. Adams, who operates a number of grocery stores in Port Arthur, Beaumont and Orange, are under way, according to current reports in Nederland.

Adams is figuring with contractors for getting the construction of the building under way within the near future, the reports set forth. While no definite announcement has been made as to where the building will be located, the belief is expressed in Nederland that Adams will get a site on the Port Arthur-Nederland highway.

RAIL STATION IS MODERNIZED

New Foundations Laid, Electric Lights Installed

Several thousands of dollars repair and renovating work on the passenger depot at Nederland is underway by construction forces of the Kansas City Southern railroad, officials of the road announced.

New foundations for the depot, installation of electric lighting fixtures, and fresh paint within and without are among the items included in the depot repair plans, it is said. Early this week the depot was placed on blocks and moved over a few feet in order to renew the foundations of the structure, and as this work is completed, the remainder of the repairs will be made.

The station was built in 1888, one of the oldest stations on the K. C. S., and has been enlarged from time to time as increasing business demanded, railroad men said. No additions to the present structure are contemplated at this time, they said.

DEMAND FOR LOTS IN ADDITIONS HEALTHY

As though with a fairy wand, additions all over Port Neches have sprung up overnight, and are being rapidly disposed of.

The rush to the vicinity resembles the gradual rise of a young gold field of the earlier days.

Table Queen Bread

Pure and Wholesome

Around the clock with products from The Nederland Bakery. You will feel more energetic. You will walk more springy. Light rolls with your coffee for breakfast, a sandwich of our lightbread at lunch, or perhaps some freshly-made doughnuts, and delicious rich layer cake at dinner. A trial is enough to convince.

The Nederland Bakery is the most sanitary plant in this section of the state. You can walk into this clean plant any time and see for yourself that everything is absolutely handled in the best manner.

The children are growing fast; and besides they play hard in the balmy weather. All of which means they need the best kind of nourishment. Feed them our bread and notice the expression of keen delight and satisfaction their faces emit. Table Queen Bread is baked in the most up-to-date way and cleanliness is assured.

The man who works hard all day, whether in the office or in the factory, needs a wholesome diet of quality. Table Queen Bread is made fresh every day.

There is a difference in flour, shortening, and many other things that go into the make-up of bread. If a low quality of ingredients are used then it is natural that the quality of the product is also low. That is the reason for Table Queen's wonderful popularity in this section. We use only the very best grade of materials therefore we are marketing a superior product.

Nederland Special Bread?

Nederland Special Bread has only been on the market a very short while. Its wonderful flavor and purity have won for it almost unbelievable popularity. It has become the favorite of many housewives of Port Arthur, Nederland and Port Neches. Nederland Special Bread like Table Queen, is made under the most sanitary conditions, and only the best of materials are used in its manufacture. This accounts to a certain degree for its almost overnight popularity. Try it next time. Your Grocer has it.

RECONCILIATION

Dramatic Personae—A Houston married couple.

Scene—Her boudoir.

—And now, Viola, since we understand each other, let us never fall out again. Let us forget the bitter words that we have spoken to one another, and resolve to dwell in love and affection. (Places his arm around her waist.)

—Oh, Charles, you don't know how happy you make me! Of course we will never quarrel again. Let us keep it the primrose path of love, and never stray from it anywhere. Oh, what bliss to think you love me and nothing can ever come between us. Just like the old days when we used to meet by the lake here. Isn't it? (Lays her head on his shoulder.)

—Yes, and when I need to tell blossoms and twine them in your hair and call you Queen Titania.

—Oh, that was nice. I remember. Queen Titania? Oh, yes, she was one of Shakespeare's characters, who fell in love with a man with a donkey's head.

—If I'm—

—Now don't, I didn't mean you, Oh, Charles, are you sure you love me as well as you used to?

—More. (Smack.)

—Doesn't it feel sweet?

—Smack, smack.

—Wasn't that delicious?

—Awful heavy. Who do you say?

—My own old boy.

—Both. (Smack.)

—We should be doubly happy, love, for we have passed through stormy seas of doubt and anger. But now, a light is breaking, and the new dawn of love has returned.

—And should abide with us for ever. Oh, Charles, let us never again by word or look cause pain to each other.

—Never again. And you will not sell anyone?

—No, dearest. You know I never have unless you gave me cause.

—Sometimes you have become angry and said hard things without any reason.

—Maybe you think so, but I don't. (Lifts her head from his shoulder.)

—I know what I'm talking about. (Takes his arm from her waist.)

—You come home cross because you can't get sense enough to conduct your business properly, and take your spite out on me.

—You make me feel. You go on your own because you are naturally one of the unreasoning kind and can't help it.

—You old cross-patch of a girl from Louisville, don't you talk to me that way or I'll scratch your eyes out.

—Ho! You wildcat. I wish I had been struck by lightning before I ever met you.

—She (sizing the breeze)—Biff! Biff!

—He (after reaching the sidewalk)—I wonder if Colonel Ingersoll is in?

—When he says suicide is no sin? (Curtain.)

THE PRESIDENT'S DEATH

The smiling unruffled president who went into office barely two years ago with the largest popular vote ever cast for an American chief executive, now lies dead. Perhaps the final smile is there—the smile with which the courageous in life go out to meet the portal of eternity.

President Harding dies as truly a martyr to duty as did Lincoln and Garfield and McKinley. He gave of his mind and of his body to his country until he gave all. In the exaltation of high office and the demands of overwhelming duty, he did not realize that he was draining life's vitality. Thus he was stricken.

For forty days preceding the end there was not a moment of recreation. The leader of a great people was giving his days and nights to the expression of his beliefs and the gaining of first-hand information as to the country's needs. Less than six months before his body had been weakened by the sleeplessness and personal anxiety accompanying the serious illness of Mrs. Harding.

Those of us who have spoken lightly of the duties of the modern president should now pause. The work and strain of the presidency of the United States is now the heaviest of any job in the world. The iron Roosevelt was weakened by it, Wilson collapsed under the nerve strain, and the end, as it came last night to the president, indicates that the brain gave way as soon as a slightly weakened body failed to give support.

Let our sympathy go out to the frail woman who helped her husband through the years into the highest place among all humanities leaders. Let us sympathize, too, with the man who must now step from comparative obscurity into the white light of a nation's concern. Let us give the new president, Calvin Coolidge, all we have of personal support and encouragement as he takes up his monumental task.

COME TO TEXAS, AL.

Governor Al Smith of New York has received an invitation to become the guest of the commonwealth at the thirty-seventh annual state fair which will be held in Dallas in October. A big delegation of Texans who are citizens of New York called upon the governor and insisted that he accept the invitation. He was assured by the committee that there need be no fear that political significance would be attached to the trip.

District Attorney Joab Banton was the chairman of the committee and Walter C. Sheppard and Amos L. Beatty were members of the committee. Walter C. Sheppard is a brother of United States Senator Morris Sheppard while Amos L. Beatty is president of the Texas Company, a three hundred million dollar concern which is ever in evidence—speaking of the petroleum game. Banton is a native Texan and may be the democratic candidate for governor next year.

Should Governor Al Smith accept the invitation and come to Texas in October his friends say that the mob in attendance on that day will be as large as the crowd that honored Henry W. Grady in the long ago.

All the big leaders should come to Texas. Texas is the largest of all states and thirty years hence Texas will contain more people than any state in the union and for that matter, more wealth.

Thirty years hence one-half the cotton mills of America will be under Texas skies and all the wool and mohair grown on the backs of the Texas sheep and goats will be consumed by Texas mills.

A BROKEN NATION.

Germany at present can pay nothing according to the conclusions reached by the institute of economics in its report on Germany's capacity to meet reparations demands. This report has just been completed by Harold G. Moulton and C. E. McGuire and scheduled to appear from the press of a New York publisher on September 1st.

The institute which has its headquarters in Lafayette Square has an endowment of two million dollars from the Carnegie foundation. Part of its income has been devoted to an economic investigation of the extent to which Germany has paid reparations and her capacity to make further payments.

These American investigators declare that Germany has paid to the Allies $5,188,000,000. This is less than Germany contends but more than France admits that Germany has paid. Furthermore the report declares that most of the values surrendered by Germany in fulfillment of reparations obligations have been from capital and not income and that she has practically nothing left.

If so, how will it be possible for France to get blood out of a turnip? Germany claims credit for payments amounting to eleven billion dollars but it is noted that the allied powers refuse to allow credit for many of the largest items of German delivery. Even the Tenth should be willing to admit that war is hell.

YOU AND I

ED

Here's a corker, a corker who buys a Sopwith airplane to carry him to and from his job at Uniontown, Pa. He is Edmund Enriques. Ed learned to fly during the war. On Sundays he will use his plane to attend baseball games in Chicago and Cleveland.

It is a more exceptional item of news for an airplane to be bought by a corker than by the owner of cork ovens, which demonstrates that the theory of equality in a democracy runs a few cogs when applied to money. Democracy of wealth is far in the future, but not as far as many think.

WHEELS

More than two million passenger autos and trucks were turned out by American factories in the first six months of 1923. Which is at a rate of about four million cars a year.

Ford this year expects to build
1,500,000 cars and trucks.

We are on wheels, as a nation, and the penalty of not exercising our legs enough is showing up in bad digestion, fretful nerves and less served powers of resisting disease.

Life is becoming too automatic and "soft" for health.

NOVELS

Discussion of the fate of Tom
Harbaugh, prolific writer of oddball
Beadle dime and nickel novels, dis-closes that the first of all the dime novels was "Mahabala," or the Indian Wife of the White Hunter. It was written by Mrs. Ann S. Stevens in 1890.

Historically important. The American craze for sensations found its first outlet in dime novels, later in Barnum's circus, and now in jazz.
We toy with our nerves like a boy picking up a fiddle and bow for the first time, then puzzled when strings snap.

EGOTISM IN WAY OF CONVERSIONS

This and Love of Sin Cause Rejection Says Minister

Egotism and love of sin are the only two reasons why men and women do not accept Jesus Christ as their personal savior, Rev. R. C. Minter of St. John's, conducting a revival meeting at the First Methodist church, 1000 Jackson street, Sunday, August 5, 1923. Challenge to Your Soul, Thursday night.

"How many there are who are looking to some other source for salvation, but God's word is definite in its teaching that salvation is only through Him, Jesus Christ," Rev. Minter said, developing his text, "For God sent not His Son into the world to condemn the world, but that the world through Him might be saved." Gospel of John, the third chapter and 17-19 verse.

"I am sure the unsaved will find the reason for their rejection due to either egotism or love of sin, if they examine their own lives in the light of God's word. I am sure you will find it to be so, in which case you will believe you know more than Peter, Paul and the early apostles. The line about God's plan of salvation or Christ's promise in which the unsaved love and are determined not to save, is the strongest line of all."

HUNGER HAUNTS STRANGE YOUTH

So He Steals to Eat and Gets Arrested

Contrary to service's hero, it was hunger of the kind that's banished with bacon and beans. Claiming he stole to satisfy that hunger, a 17-year-old boy was arraigned in corporation court Friday morning charged with theft. The boy's name is not known.

An orphan—a stranger—an ambition—were what Freudians would claim "inferior complexes" but Judge Dyers, Juvenile Officer McClatchie and Detention Expert Thorpe, saw differently.

Yes, dad and mother were dead. He wanted to be a pharmacist, but in his native state it was necessary for him to work three years before being eligible to a college of pharmacy. In Texas it was different—but two years' practical experience was required. Hence his presence in Port Arthur.

His voice faltering and choking with tears, he told of making the rounds of Port Arthur drug stores in search of work. None was to be found. He got hungry. He had no money and no friends, but for a time the home training of a little girl helped him straighten up.

But hunger is no respecter of dim memories. So he took a camera belonging to a man rooming at the same place with him. He pawned it and was arrested.

This morning he was tried, but placed on probation by Judge Dyers.

The results of nine presidential straw votes show we will have nine presidents next time.

CLAIMS HARDING MARTYR TO DUTY

Ambassador Herrick, Grief-Stricken, to Hurry to U. S.

PARIS, Aug. 3.—"President Harding died a martyr to office," American Ambassador Myron T. Herrick declared in a statement to the United Press today. "He died for his country just as any soldier killed in battle. He was killed by the pressure of great responsibilities of his office."

"The American people may not realize that the office of president must be relinquished. We must take off some of that load of responsibility. No man can live through it."

"The responsibilities of the presidential office must in some way be divided. The human frame cannot stand it. I knew something of President Harding's worries."

"When a man is president there is no peace, no happiness for him. This tragedy should bring this to the attention of the American people."

Grief-stricken Ambassador Herrick planned to rush home to Marion, Ohio, in hopes of arriving in time for the president's funeral.

Father of Mrs. Savant Buried In Louisiana

JEAN BAPTISTE FRILON, 97, pioneer citizen of Opelousas and native of Louisiana, died yesterday morning at 2:40 o'clock at the home of his daughter, Mrs. J. Young, in Opelousas. Funeral services were held yesterday evening at 6 o'clock in Opelousas and interment was made in Port Barre.

A daughter, Mrs. A. Savant, and a granddaughter, Mrs. Ed Carrier of 1901 Seventh street attended the funeral from Port Arthur.

The deceased, despite his age, was actively engaged in his farm duties, doing his own plowing and farm work, until about 10 months ago. Since then he has been almost wholly confined to his bed.

Mr. Frilon is survived by four daughters, Mrs. A. Savant of this city; Mrs. J. Young and Mrs. I. McBride of Opelousas; and Mrs. A. Carrier of Port Barre, La.; 35 grandchildren, 12 of whom live in Port Arthur, and 27 great grandchildren, four of whom live in Port Arthur.

Island Plays Rings Around Texas Club For 6 to 0 Victory

Gardner's Easy-Hurling Artist Leads Blanks for Trumps and Makes Parent Company's Nine Like it, While Stars Drop Game.

By BILL ARCHER

BLANKS were trumps yesterday, and Connally, erstwhile right-paw flinger of the Island squad, held the winning hand.

While Skipper Nookie Priester's star performers pawed the atmosphere surrounding the immediate vicinity of Lakeshore Diamond considerably, Connally led the double-blank for a "spinner," allowed eight hard swats but managed to keep 'em well scattered throughout the six-inning game, and chopped away 10 of the leading Texas characters in a 6-to-0 show.

Laue, one-time pitching ace of the Priesterites, was ineffective, and seemed unable to halt the winning stride the Islanders developed early in the game at any stage during its melee.

Laue was nicked for only six hits, but the Islanders made them count for winning runs, and added the shortcomings of the Texas to the bingles for another victory over the "parent company's team."

Romero, Townsend and Pete Karnaky brought their favorite willows along to the field yesterday, and proceeded to instruct fandom in the art of smashing the hopes of rising young hurlers. Romy made three trips to the plate and swung his willow round while Connally pitched to him; and as many times he went to first on hits, Townsend and Karnaky shared the batting honors for the Islanders in smacking Laue's offerings twice each in three trips apiece to the batting box.

The Island club defeated the Texas in every department of the game. They jumped an early lead in the last of the first, after the Texas had lost the toss, and nestled away two neat tallies that the Stars never once came near. A single, a triple and a double fight in a row did the dirty work on Laue's deliveries in that opening period, and as a direct result Townsend and Black crossed the counting rubber after Gilchrist and Johnny Johnson had drawn outs at the initial bag.

Only three of the 10 Texas Players that "got on" went as far as third base during the clash, and Connally managed always to keep them from pounding on around the path to home.

Meanwhile, in the fourth frame, pandemonium—that indefinite gent that breaks in on the soliloquizing of numerous baseball players—broke forth in all his rancidity, and demoralized the game as far as the Texas Company was concerned.

Black opened the injury and was rescued a pass on four wide balls, Karnaky singled and Black went on to third on a passed ball. Connally singled, scoring Black and Karnaky. Stelly doubled, scoring Connally. An error at third when Kaine failed to hold one delivered to his hands brought Stelly homeward bound. Fore was safe at the initial bag when Romero muffed one. Kaine hit into a fielder's choice, and Fore was caught at third. Gilchrist and Johnson ended the inning with outs.

And when the smoke of the battle had cleared off the field, the box score showed for that period a total of four more runs, three more errors and three more hits, one of which went for two stations.

That was entirely too much for the Texas to even overcome. In fact, they only had two more chances to overcome the big lead piled up by the Islanders. It has been done before—both in the bigger shows and on the sand lot as well, but yesterday Connally was master of ceremonies, and he was still leading blanks for trumps in the final stages of the contest just as enthusiastically as he had opened the mid. Consequently, a dozen or so more periods would not have materially changed the standing finally.

The Island squad was playing air-tight baseball all the way around while Connally was strutting his stuff, too. Johnny Johnson committed a couple of errors of omission, and Kaine pulled down one of commission—the only one of the game; but beyond that, their game was perfect, filled with good fielding and good playing.

HOW PEPSINATED CALOMEL RELIEVES THE BACKACHE

Tests with Pepsinated Calomel, the new English Calomel treatment, have shown that it is one of the most powerful stimulants to the kidneys which we possess. While not intended primarily for the treatment of kidney diseases, yet it exerts a powerful influence upon these organs and promptly relieves backache due to the kidneys, by stimulating both the liver and kidneys, thus aiding them in removing the waste matter that is causing trouble. If your back aches most of the time, or if you are troubled with constipation or biliousness, try Pepsinated Calomel on the positive guarantee that you will be relieved of your money returned.

Hart Drug Company and all reliable druggists recommend and guarantee Pepsinated Calomel to bring relief to backaches, and constipation or your money refunded. Try it—we guarantee you'll feel better tomorrow. (Adv.)

GASSERS FAIL TO HIT SHREVEPORT, Aug. 3.—Failure to hit in the pinches gave San Antonio a victory over the Gassers squad 3 to 2. Stow was out on strikes in the ninth inning, the crowd thinking the decision by Estill to be unfair. After a strike had been called on Simmons, the crowd surged onto the field and Estill was hit in the month before the police arrived on the scene.

Beaumont Drops All of Series To Cats

FORT WORTH, Texas, August 3.—Fort Worth made a clean sweep of the three-game series with Beaumont by taking the final game 7-6 when the Panthers proved able to hit Eberhard in the pinches.

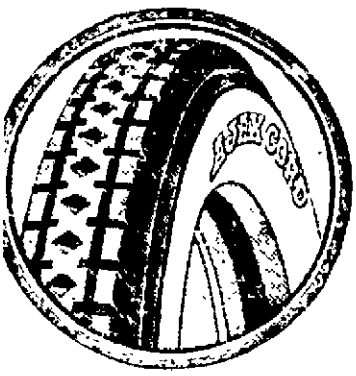

Johns was also hit freely through the early stages of the game and finally gave way to Stoner in the eighth who managed to halt the determined attack which the Islanders were waging.

SANDWICHES, PICNIC OR HOME

And Left-Over Can Be Appe- tizingly Utilized

Many women hate to make sandwiches, but if the knife is sharp and the butter creamed to spread and the bread not too fresh, there is no reason for considering sandwich making a hardship.

Sandwiches served with tea or milk on the porch make a delightful luncheon. And there is not a more clever way to use up left-overs than in these very sandwiches.

These suggestions for meat sandwiches may help you:

Roast or steak can be used. Carefully remove all fat or gristle from meat. Put meat through food chopper. Four tablespoons chopped meat, 1 teaspoon minced parsley, 2 or 3 slices tomato, salt and pepper.

The amount of salt and pepper, of course, depends on how highly the meat was seasoned when cooked. Put meat, parsley, tomato, salt and pepper in a bowl and mix well. There should be enough tomato to make the mixture moist. Put between thin slices of bread and butter.

VEAL SANDWICHES
Remove all fat and bone from meat and put through food chopper. Four tablespoons chopped meat, 2 tablespoons grated new carrot, 1/2 teaspoon minced parsley, 1 teaspoon minced onion, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, oil to make moist.

A quick way to do this is to put meat in a small mortar, 1 slice onion and four or five sprigs of parsley chopped, from the stems into food chopper and grind. Mix well and season with salt and pepper. Make moist with oil and onion juice. Raw carrots are a wonderful food as well as being very tasty with meat.

LAMB SANDWICHES
Combine chopped lamb with minced watercress and onion. If watercress is not at hand use tender nasturtium leaves. Season with salt and pepper and a few grains of sugar and make moist with good salad vinegar. If salad vinegar is not procurable use lemon juice. These sandwiches are high in food value, each one containing a valuable raw vegetable rich in minerals.

BACON SANDWICHES
Combine crisp bacon with early endives. Mince bacon and endives, using half as much bacon as endives. Season with paprika and make moist with lemon juice.

The person who would "eat and grow thin" may enjoy any or all of these sandwiches with food tea, and he who would "eat and grow merry" should drink good rich milk with them.

Left-over fish makes delicious sandwiches. Carefully remove bones and flake. Season with salt, pepper and lemon juice or add one fourth as much minced watercress.

Eggs Delicious When Baked in Cheese Sauce

Melt three tablespoons butter, add four tablespoons flour and seasonings consisting of one half teaspoon salt, one eighth teaspoon pepper and one half teaspoon paprika. Stir until smooth. Add two cups milk and cook, stirring constantly until the mixture boils and thickens.

Remove shells from eight hard cooked eggs and cut lengthwise into halves. In a buttered baking dish or casserole put a layer of sauce, a layer of eggs and a layer of grated cheese. Repeat until all are used, having cheese on top. Bake in a moderate oven about 15 minutes.

A good supper dish and one which may be served attractively with sliced tomatoes, plain or as a salad.

Chicken Salad Is Delicious This Way

Mix the following ingredients: Two cups cold boiled or roasted chicken, one cup celery cut into thin slices, two tomatoes cut into dice, one cup almonds or English walnuts browned in the oven and cut into slices, one teaspoon salt, one teaspoon paprika, one eighth teaspoon pepper, four tablespoons salad oil, two tablespoons vinegar. Let this mixture stand in a cold place for one hour.

Arrange one head lettuce in a salad bowl, place chicken in center and garnish with one cup mayonnaise or cooked dressing.

This is Salad Time

By BERTHA E. SHAPLEIGH
Of Columbia University

There is nothing better at this time of the year than nature's own medicine to be found in the salad plants and fresh vegetables. Dandelion greens, the tender leaves of lettuce, romaine, endive, chervil, all cooked together with an onion and then served with melted butter and a little vinegar is better than a tonic bought in bottles, and is much cheaper.

Many people object to oil on a salad, but it should be served a little at a time. Of course, cream is a good substitute and a quick dressing may be made by adding to stiffly beaten cream, oil, vinegar, salt and pepper in the usual proportions for French dressing.

Every one should eat plenty of onions.

Combining vegetables, is often a satisfactory change. Peas and carrots, white turnips and carrots, turnips and spinach, spinach and beets, and many others, always choosing colors which go well together.

Potatoes, carrots, turnips, celery and peas, added to a cream sauce to which is added a little curry powder is not only appetizing but a good way to use left-over vegetables.

Cooked vegetables rubbed through a sieve may be made into a soufflé or timbales. When served with a dressing, since they are very satisfying and contain a goodly amount of food value.

I am sure the reason for so many persons disliking vegetables is because they had them served to them when children always in the same unattractive way. And many times a vegetable is made less attractive by putting over it a poorly made white sauce.

Melted butter and sometimes a little lemon juice or yolk of egg added, is much better.

Boiled Shad Roe

Soak a pair of roe in cold water for one hour. Remove and place in boiling water to which has been added one tablespoon each of vinegar and salt. Cook gently for 10 minutes. Drain from water, dry thoroughly, brush over with melted butter and broil under the gas or over the coals for 10 minutes.

Place on a hot platter, and spread with butter to which is added lemon juice, salt and pepper. Garnish with slices of lemon and plenty of watercress.

Strips of crisp bacon may be served with it.

NEGRO BOY, 8, GLAD HE KILLED PLAYMATE

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 3.—The youngest confessed murderer in the history of Kansas City was held in a detention home here today. Oscar Harris, 8 years old, negro, told police he pushed Johnny Dixon, his 6-year-old negro playmate, into the Missouri river, causing him to drown. "No, I am not sorry," he said; "he was a mean baby and I'm glad I pushed him in the river."

Delicious Frankfurters, For Hot Weather Days

Mix one pint flour, one-half teaspoon salt and four teaspoons baking powder. Work in two tablespoons lard and one tablespoon butter (or three tablespoons of any preferred fat), using the hands or a fork. Moisten with milk to a soft dough and take onto a floured board.

Roll out into about one-fourth of an inch thick. Cut into pieces long and wide enough to entirely enclose a frankfurter sausage. Place in each piece one sausage, wrap dough around it, prick several times with a fork and bake in a hot oven.

These are very good for a picnic lunch, or served hot with potato salad.

SILK FRINGES

Silk fringes finish the skirt of one very smart street frock. Circular flounces are making their appearance on many dance frocks and afternoon gowns seen at the smart restaurants.

The small hat of almond green felt has probably been the most popular model of the spring. Green straw too are becoming very numerous.

The medic collar is shown on many of the smartest imported frocks. It is said to be featured in Lady Elizabeth's trousseau.

STATE CAPITOL A WORK OF ART

Decorative Work of Missouri House Attractive

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Aug. 3.—When all decorative work is completed, the Missouri state capitol here is going to be the most beautiful state capitol building in the United States, according to A. A. Speer, vice chairman of the Missouri state capitol board.

Simple, almost to the point of severity, the capitol here has an individuality of design not found in any of the capitol buildings throughout the nation.

Four hundred thousand dollars has been appropriated for the interior decoration work. Mural paintings, depicting historic scenes in Missouri history, will be found in nearly every room. Works of art, almost exclusively by Missourians, will adorn the rooms.

The interior throughout is lined with carthage marble, including the floors, corridors and steps of the grand stairway, which is 30 feet wide. Heavy overhanging arches around the rotundas, and numerous marble incased piers, instead of the usual columns, give an air of strength and solidity.

Thirty-two paintings have been hung in the capitol to date. Thirty-six more are to be hung. A magnificent frieze is being carved above the front portico of the capitol.

More than 5200 tons of steel were used in construction of the building; 210,000 cubic feet of stone was used, almost all coming from Missouri quarries.

An outstanding feature of the building is the rotunda, which is 68 feet in diameter. During the day it is lighted by 12 large windows and at night by magnificent chandeliers. Leading to it on the first floor from either side are two corridors, 60 feet wide and 112 feet long, extending upward through two stories and with ceilings 40 feet high.

INCREASE A MILLION SCHOOL CHILDREN

CHICAGO, Aug. 3.—School children in the United States today number 5,375,000 more than they did 20 years ago, according to Prof. A. N. Farmer, who spoke before a meeting of educators here.

"The number of children now in schools," said Prof. Farmer, who based his statement on figures from the U. S. bureau of education, "is 22,100,070. In 1902 it was 16,123,050. The value of property used for public school purposes has quadrupled in this period of time, the amount in 1902 being $491,571,307 and in 1922 being $2,498,719,129."

BROWNWOOD LIONS ENTERTAIN KIWANTS

BROWNWOOD, Texas, Aug. 1.—The Kiwanis club, recently organized here, was entertained last night by the Lions' club; about 200 members of the two clubs were present, including their wives and daughters.

FLAGS FLY AT HALF MAST HERE

Port Arthur Mourns Loss of President

On Port Arthur's public buildings, business homes, private homes and aboard ships in the Port Arthur harbor flags are flying at half mast today out of respect to the memory of President Warren G. Harding.

Throughout the city, including the city hall and the federal building, the national emblem was raised to the peak of the flag staffs, then lowered to half mast early today as the news of the president's death was heard.

A telegram from Washington ordering the flag on the federal building flown at half mast until further orders was received today by Robert Lattimer, custodian of the building. It is believed the flag will not be flown at peak again until after the funeral services for the president.

STARVILLE HOME IS DESTROYED BY FIRE

TYLER, Texas, Aug. 3.—Dave Wood lost $5,000 in a fire which destroyed his home near Starville, 15 miles to the east of Tyler. The fire, which originated in a defective flue, spread so rapidly that Mr. Wood did not have time to save any of his household furniture, only saving his personal effects.
